A Missive from Their Royal Majesties

We are just home from Coronation as We write this. It was a wonderful weekend, and We would like to thank all those who made it so. Whether you toiled for days in advance (We're looking at you, cooks and event staff), for a few hours during the event, or simply joined Us to add to the fellowship and magnificence of the day, thank you. We are very tired, but it is a happy tired.

Nonetheless, this weariness reminds Us that We are mortal, and the royal line must be protected. We stand in need of heirs. It is Our intent to hold a grand tournament at the Benjamin Hawkins field, in conjunction with the magnificent competition of artists and artisans to be held in the hall. We ask all those who would strive to prepare their harness, earn the favor of a worthy inspiration, and submit unto Us a letter indicating their intent. We wish Our Crown Tournament to be a brilliant display of the prowess and honor of Meridies. Please join Us, should you meet the requirements and are willing to serve the Kingdom should you prove victorious.

If you meet the requirements put forth in Corpora and Kingdom Law and wish to represent your inspiration and assume the mantel of Our heirs should victory be yours, please send us your letter of intent no earlier than the 15th of April, and no later than the 15 of May. Letters should be sent electronically to crown@meridies.org. Copies must also be sent to the Kingdom Seneschal (Seneschal@meridies.org), the Earl Marshal (kem@meridies.org), and the Kingdom Exchequer (exchequer@meridies.org), as required by kingdom law. It is Our intent to notify all couples of whether their intent is acceptable by the 21st of May.

The format for the tournament will be that of Meridian tradition: double elimination with the first round will be a challenge up by order of precedence (low to high). Each round will be fought best two-out-of-three. The final round will be fought the best three-out-of-five to secure the tournament victory.

We wish you good fortune and look forward to your letters and seeing great deeds upon the field.

From the Beacon Herald

The College of Heraldry is looking for a Spark Herald. Spark Herald is Beacon's replacement deputy. This will put you in charge of heraldry in our kingdom. You would be responsible for the organization and administration of the college of Heraldry, ensuring that everyone is doing their job, and giving assistance when needed.

You would be expected to step up as Beacon sometime in November, 2023. The role is largely administrative -- ensuring that reports are turned in on time to society, and coordinating activities across the different offices of the college. You do not need to be proficient in all areas of heraldry. Heraldry is a team sport, and so long as you can herd cats, there will be people who have your back!

In some exciting news, we have new submission forms for names and armory. These forms are fillable PDFs, and if you wish to use digital artwork, we have specially sized templates for you to use. We will accept the v3.0 forms until the end of 2023 however.

In Service,

Baronesa Sara al-Garnatiyya

Greetings from the Chatelaine

Last month we discussed how to pre-register and pack for your first war. There are some other things I would also recommend you do before hand.

As I mentioned, you will be walking a lot. While there are carts that run all over site, you will still be putting in a lot of miles on foot. It may be a good idea to walk some now to get in shape.

If you can, save a little money to shop. The magnificent market on site is a great place to enlarge your garb and medieval experience.

Many wars have apps which you can install on your phone. The app will have maps, schedules etc. This can make your experience a lot easier on a site you have never been to before.

It's time for war! Troll in, which means entering the site and showing your registration. You'll receive your site token, keep it safely around your neck or in your belt. You'll show this everywhere you go.

Find your camp and get set up. Don't worry if you haven't done this before, your camp is more than willing to help you!

At Gulf Wars, there is a Volunteer point where you can register with them, if you haven't done it online before. you will sign in by telling them your kingdom and local group you'd like to support. All hours will be credited to those groups, and they will receive money also volunteer hours count for war points.

Volunteering is the fastest way to make new friends, get to know the site and help your kingdom/local group. So make sure you volunteer at least a few hours.

Definitely check out the market. Enjoy some freshly baked treats, drink some fabulous coffee, have lunch and browse.

Watch some fighting or volunteer at fighter support to have a front row place, maybe even on the field between bouts.

Visit artisan row, Al mahala, renaissance village and Early Period living for some classes. Scribes point is a great place to volunteer if you like to draw or write, even if you think you don't have skills yet.

If you don't have a name and device registered yet, heralds point will take good care of you. A little off the beaten path are equestrian and archery, but both well worth the visit.

Learn a dance or two. Play some games. Go to some parties. Hang around a campfire with new and old friends. Sing, laugh and listen to stories. It is a rare experience to get to meet people from all over the country and all over the world who have an interest in history.

War is lots of things for different people, find out what it is to you. Be brave! Please feel free to join newcomers point on Facebook if you have any questions at all, we'll be happy to help.

Yours in Service,

Dis in Rauda

From the Kingdom Minister of Children

Greetings on to the Populace of Meridies,

I bring you good news of events: from War to what will be happening in our near future. As Dean it was my pleasure to help facilitate a week of wonderful youth activities at Page School.

Monday, we had 34 children in attendance. We took them over to have a meet and greet with the great folks in Equestrian. The met the horses, talked about how to be around horses safely and they played with their own hobby horses. They also saw how horses are ridden and what martial activities they can do on horseback.

Tuesday, we had 28 youth in attendance. We did unit on animal husbandry. They were allowed to pet chickens, and later in that day we also had coursing hounds come by. We had a special field trip to the Pop-up Pro- Museum or Wunderkammer.

Wednesday had two sessions one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The morning session had 31 children in attendance. This is the day we went to Early Period Life. Where they saw a black smith, sat in a long house, a brick oven, and many other sites. In the afternoon session We took the kids over the Renaissance village, and they got to Play musical instruments. They were very engaged and enjoyed themselves the whole time.

Thursday, we had 30 children in attendance, this is the day we went to the fort and learned about siege weapons. We also attend a youth combat demonstration. We had a visit from TRHs and Her Royal Majesty of Meridies. Then they children made tabletop Trebuchets.

I would like to thank all of my many, many volunteers with out you all this week would have not been possible. I would especially like to thank the MOCs of our Kingdom you are all amazing! If you would like to volunteer, if you would like to have youth activities, or if you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me at moc@meridies.org.

From the Parchment Clerk

The Greater office of the Parchment is looking for a deputy. Being Parchment in Meridies is a prestigious position but with that prestige comes A LOT (and I do mean a lot) of sacrifice and dedication. For those thinking about applying for this position, I beg you to read the following:

1. Consider how much time and energy you must spend and if you can prioritize this position. It requires several hours a week once you become parchment and as deputy, I will slowly give you more and more responsibilities until you are prepared and ready to take over.
2. Consider your ability in calligraphy. This position is extremely calligraphy-heavy. Knowing many different hands and learning to match the style on the scroll so the parts we fill in blend seamlessly with the hand that is already on the scroll and learning how to fill in the blank spaces creatively. You don't have to be perfect at this right away but being willing to learn and grow on top of a solid knowledge base is a must.
3. Consider diplomacy. As Parchment, the weight of your words and actions is much heavier. You have the influence to help people and encourage people. This is a heavy responsibility that constantly weighs on my mind. Also, you will be working closely with the crown and their entourage. The appropriate respect and deference are important and as well as being able to express the concerns and feelings of the scribes in a confident, yet humble manner. In fact, learning diplomacy skills overall is essential.
4. Consider your knowledge of illumination styles and what country and century they are from is very helpful when choosing scrolls for recipients.
5. Consider organizational skill level. I can't express how being organized helps with not only maintaining the kingdom cases but also keeping track of which scrolls are going out, are commissioned, and missing or destroyed scrolls. As well as keeping track of active scribes and their skill level so that you know who is doing what and how much. And it's such a great pleasure to see our scribes' skills improve over time as they practice and work on their craft.

If you're still interested after reading the above, please email me at parchment@meridies.org with an introduction and your SCA resume.

In service of the dream,

Baronessa Aelia Bassina
