Ciao Calontir,

As many of you may already know, event insurance has gone up effective May 1, 2023 (Society notification missed the May Mews deadline so this is a little late). It is a significant increase but there are several things to note:

1) This is not the total charge for event insurance. Society covers the larger portion of the costs.

2) There need not be any increase to your group for events. You only need to pay an additional fee if the site you are using requires that they be a named insured on the policy. (This is a piece of paper that you request from Corporate) Being a named insured doesn't increase their coverage and isn't required by our insurance or by society or by kingdom law. I know some groups have requested this out of habit, but it is not always necessary. It saves both the SCA and your event money if you don't request this and the site is still covered. So, unless the site requires it, don't offer it and don't request it. If you are unsure whether your event needs to request this from Corporate let me know.

3) Two types of insurance that have seen an increase AND are required are: Equestrian and Golf Carts. Most of our events don't use golf carts. Only Lilies, as far as I am aware, and that is a recent addition.

More significant to Calontir at this time is the increase for equestrian activities. The equestrian community is looking at ways to help defray the insurance expenses for events that want to offer equestrian activities. If you have an event that offers or would like to offer equestrian activities let me know.

As always, if you need any help, have questions, or need more information, let me know.

If you have any topics that you would like to see addressed in the Seneschals Mews letter let me know. Help finding useful topics to share with the Kingdom are always appreciated. If you want more information about something I'm sure you are not alone.

In servizio dove posso

Giulia

Greetings Calontir,

First, I'd like to introduce my new deputy, Líknvé in spaka, who has volunteered to be the next Kingdom Webminister. She will assume the office this summer. In the meantime, we are working to finish up a number of additional features for the CALON management system. In preparation for Gulf Wars, we worked out many of the kinks in the authorization and marshallate system. Soon we will be working to migrate all officer reporting to the CALON system and to develop integrations to allow us to make proposing and reporting for events easier.

Officers, please be sure that you have access to login to your @calontir.org email address. We will be using these to provide access to reporting forms in the CALON system. If you need access to your account or a password reset, please send an email to support@calontir.org so that we can help you login.

Webministers, please take note that there are new SCA Webminister's and Release Form handbooks that were released this year. Please take a few minutes to read the new versions and ensure that you are using the updated forms.

Gawin Kappler, OoD
Calontir Webminister

Good morning Calontir!

A few words from the office of the Earl marshal. We have Battlemoor coming up and a muster will be called. Sign the muster! Print your fighter cards! Check your gear! You don't want to get to the battlefield and remember that the fix you meant to make didn't get done.

There will be a new rule book published within the next month. There are several rules changing so marshals will need to read up on the new rules. Also, as of Gulf wars and as long as we have active participants Calontir once again holds an authorization in siege weapons.

Are you ready for fireworks?

It's June and that means Lilies and that means fireworks. If you've sat next to me during one of these you'll hear me yell out Calontir, or Outlands, or Ealdormere, or whatever kingdom matches the heraldic colors painting the sky. Find me at Lilies and we can have a veritable chorus of heraldic shouting to add to the fun! Or annoy those around us. I'm not entirely sure.

Let's get to the business side of things. First, I'm expanding our OP Clerk setup to add a deputy. Basically, Blue Hawk enters in all the awards given by Their Majesties into the database so everyone knows who has what. It's not a difficult task, but it takes time almost every week and has no pause for attacks of life, hence the need for a deputy. Qualifications are few, just the ability and energy to enter in various changes consistently. If you're interested in helping out, send me an email at goldfalcon@calontir.org.

Also, I'm opening up the position of Lanner Herald. This is a job for those interested in creating fun and cool ceremonies for court. Peerages, baronial investitures, coronations, those sorts of things. There's a database to draw from, but the most important requirements are the interest to research ceremonies and cool things in a large variety of cultures and the skill to dig out fun, interesting nuggets. Again, send me an email if you're interested.

Please send letters of interest for either position by the end of Lilies and we'll schedule interviews to follow soon after.

Now, let's get back to fireworks, or at least, heraldic charges related to the sky.

We are, of course, starting with the heraldic term mullet. Yes, it's a heraldic term, no it doesn't mean a heraldic beast with a business mane in the front and a party mane in the back. Nor was this heraldic term created by the Beastie Boys, but it is fun to think about them blazoning devices.

The mullet in heraldry refers to a star. Of note, mullets are, by definition, stars with five points, but they can have more or less. A mullet of four has four points, a mullet of six has six points, and so on. A great example of a mullet of six would be the device of Finnvarr de Taahe, who just happens to be the Midrealm king that finally released Calontir's jesses and signed off our kingdom. He actually likes mullets of six so much his device is a mullet of six with mullets of six at each point. Stars upon stars, as you can see here: middlewiki.midrealm.org/index.php/Finnvarr_de_Taahe.

By the way, mullet, in this context comes from the late 14th century into Middle English as molet or molette. This derives from Old French molette "rowel of a spur," equivalent to mole "millstone." So, yes, stars in heraldry are etymologically related to millstones. No wonder shields with mullets on them are so heavy!

But of course, there's another star that's relevant to heraldry, and especially relevant to Lilies, the sun. One way we see the sun in heraldry is the term rayonny. This has nothing to do with the fiber, but they are etymologically related. Rayon, the fiber, comes from the French word "rayon" or beam of light.

"Rayonner" is French meaning to spread out, radiate. Hence, rayonny, in heraldry are wavy rays meant to show the sun's light.

You see this anywhere there's an edge. Per pale (remember that one?) rayonny would be a vertical line with wavy rays going out both sides.

Here's a great example of rayonny used as the edge of a chief: calontir.org/persona/4420. Oh, and hey, look Ayisha's heraldry has mullets too! Mullets of eight, even.

How cool is it that one of our patent pending Laurels has exactly the right heraldry for this month's letter? Almost like I planned it.

Except it's me, and I never plan anything. She's just got great, and cool, heraldry.

Rhodri

Greetings unto the Kingdom of Calontir,

Thank you to everyone who helped me in the transition process to becoming Kingdom Exchequer, I have learned that there is much that I need to learn and work on within the office. I also wanted to thank Mistress Juliana Foxcroft for stepping up to be the new Falcon Region Deputy covering the Shires of Westumbria, Moonstone, Amlethsmore, Calanais Nuadh, Lost Moor, Oakheart, and the Barony of Three Rivers.

I am looking for volunteers to step up for the following vacant positions within the Exchequer's Office: Cross Region Deputy, Tax Deputy, E-pay Deputy, and Regalia Coordinator. If you have any interest in any of these specific positions or would like to shadow any of these or currently staffed positions, please let me know and submit a copy of the exchequer agreement to serve form.

As another quarter wraps up, we need to get each groups' bank account signature cards updated. Would each group's exchequer or seneschal please contact me to get these updates made as soon as possible. If your group hasn't already, please fill out and send in the opening/changing bank account form found on the Exchequer webpage to get this process started.

Per kingdom law, Calontir is required to publish our financial information twice a year, this has not happened since prior to the pandemic. To get caught back up, we will be sharing the approved 2021 financials. Once I have received the approved 2022 information that will be published as well.

Yours In Service,
Lady Margaret MacKenzie

Greetings Calontir,

I hope this letter finds you well. For those of you that don't know me, I'm Ottar Surterson, your new Kingdom Chatelaine. It is my pleasure to serve this kingdom I love, and I look forward to getting to know every one of you. For those that do know/remember me, I'm back! It's good to be home.

As we are in the "busy" time of year, I'd just like to remind everyone to be on their best behavior when in the eyes of the public. While I do not subscribe to the thought that each person is a chatelaine, each person is an example of our game and our kingdom. I truly know how busy things get. Traveling long distances, breaking your mundane routine, etc. Each time one of us stops to get a bite to eat with a vehicle full of stuff or calls a new site attempting to get a reservation for an event, we may be the first time that the people around us have met someone from the SCA. While we may not be seeking to be the example, sometimes we are.

So, if you find yourself in that situation where someone is asking questions that you either don't know, or simply do not have the time to answer, please refer them to the chatelaine's page on our kingdom website and have them email me. I'll take care of them from there.

Finally, I have an open-door policy. I am here to help. I am open to constructive criticism, and value any ideas you have about helping to recruit and retain newcomers. So please, contact me, come talk to me at an event, whatever is comfortable for you.

Thanks for being an amazing kingdom! It's so good to be home.

A Murdoch Inquisition

Don't worry, it's not that kind of inquisition. Ever find yourself wondering what it takes to make all this work? More specifically, what is it that the people around us with titles and jobs are doing? The tasks that need doing that not everyone knows about. Well, that's exactly what this inquisition is all about. To get the ball rolling on this project, I took it to the top of the hill and gave it a good push.

That's right, the first stage is to find out what the King and Queen have to do. There must be more to it than sitting in fancy chairs, giving out awards, taking oaths, summoning event town criers, and inspecting the top of the populace's heads. Their Majesties Logan and Ylva were kind enough to enlighten me on the subject.

Murdoch: What is it, you say, you do here? What are the bare minimum job duties for someone in your position?

Logan and Ylva: The Crown are the Medieval figureheads of the SCA. We are the lead actors in the play we are all a part of. It is Our responsibility to try and enhance the Medieval atmosphere and make everyone feel like they are part of an earlier time. The biggest part of that is recognizing people who are also enhancing the overall feel with various awards and honors.

M: What are the additional duties that you can do if you choose?

L&Y: The Crown can make changes to kingdom law, in consultation with Our officers. This will have long lasting effects, and always comes with unintended consequences, so is done rarely and carefully.

M: How much of a time commitment is involved outside of events?

L&Y: During Our first reign, before retirement, it probably averaged about 10-15 hours per week, plus travel time to events. This reign We have more time, so We are spending more time. Probably closer to 20-25 hours per week.

M: What are the extra costs that come with the role?

L&Y: There don't have to be any additional costs. If you are already attending the events anyway, your costs can theoretically go down, since you get into events for free, and the kingdom will reimburse your travel expenses. That being said, most crowns will spend some of their own money to commission gifts for visiting royalty, fealty tokens, etc. I would guess it is typically $200-$500, but it depends on the financial status of the people involved.

M: What's your favorite part of the job?

L&Y: That's easy. Giving awards to deserving people.

M: What's the least enjoyable aspect?

L&Y: Being the de facto arbiter of conflicts between people you don't really know.

M: What's the political tightrope that is involved?

L&Y: When issues arise, there is no decision that will please everyone. You have to balance your own desires against what is best for the kingdom as a whole.

M: Who do you report to and how often?

L&Y: The Crown is sovereign and reports to no one. If We do (or attempt to do) something that people object to, they can complain to the SCA's Board of Directors (BoD), who may or may not take action. The BoD is very hesitant to overrule a crown on a decision that affects only their one kingdom.

M: How much paperwork is involved?

L&Y: The Crown doesn't have to do any paperwork. We receive award recommendations but are not required to act upon them. We give out awards, but the heralds record that fact.

In reality there is:

- Tracking the recommendations to help decide who deserves an award (both electronic and those from order meetings)

- Tracking the progress of award scroll creation
- Tracking the creation of pre-print AoA scrolls
- Corresponding with peerage sponsors on ceremonies and scheduling
- Coordinating with the members of the royal household on event staffing
- Coordinating with event stewards on royal needs, etc.
- Having easy access to email is essential.

M: How do you go about choosing/ gathering your household?

L&Y: Many people volunteer to help as soon as you win Crown Tournament. We tried to pick people we thought could do the job, but who hadn't done that exact job before. Generally, they are friends and acquaintances you trust to have your back. We strongly believe that someone on the core team (crown, chamberlain, or head of retinue) should have either been crown or chamberlain before. That way they will have a good idea of what will be needed right off the bat.

M: Is there a goal you hope to accomplish during your current reign?

L&Y: Get people to try new things, take on responsibilities they have not before.

M: Is there something you wish you would have known before taking this role (the first time)?

L&Y: Not really. We had been playing for almost 30 years when we first reigned, so we had a very good idea of what was going to be expected of us.

M: Any advice for someone considering taking the role in the future?

L&Y: Have a clue. Serve on retinue to get a peek behind the scenes. Volunteer to be part of a crown's staff. Attend lots of events and help set up and tear down court.

Get familiar with electronic communications capabilities. Since COVID everyone is comfortable with online meetings. Get familiar with Google Docs (or an equivalent) and share editing responsibilities online as well.

You will be the understudies in a play for 4 months, then the leads for 6 more. And the play is partially scripted and partially improv. Be prepared for that.

M: Now that your time is ending, does the job end?

L&Y: Yes and no. The job itself is over. However, your words and actions still carry weight. People will come up to you for advice or opinion. Others recognize you as someone who has done the job before and willing to put in the work.

I hope you found this insightful and enjoyable. My hope is to continue this throughout the roles within the kingdom. If you have a role and would like to share what it involves, or have questions you want answered but would rather I ask for you, feel free to reach out to murdochmaclachlan@gmail.com.

Murdoch MacLachlan

Greetings Calontir!

Feedback from the May issue concerning placement of letters is what prompted the change to the "order of the march". I hope you enjoy the test run. A shout-out to Murdoch MacLachlan who interviewed Their former Majesties this past reign to get some understanding of what it takes to be Crown, and the unseen things that most never see.

A reminder that my warrant will be up this October and I am in need of a deputy who will be willing to take over as Chronicler. The position is not difficult, and if you are better than I at time management, you will find that putting The Mews together only takes a few hours a month. If you are interested, or would like more information, please email me at chronicler@calontir.org

EVENT FLYER GUIDELINES

For Their Majesties to hold Court, or any official business to occur, a complete flyer must be published in The Mews. Failure to do so means that the Crown can not hold Court at that event.

Before sending an event flyer confirm your event with the Reeve. The Mews WILL NOT publish an announcement if your event has not been approved or confirmed. Check the Kingdom Calendar at: <https://www.calontir.org/events/> For information on how to submit a flyer please visit: <https://www.calontir.org/chronicler/>

For an event to be considered complete and published, so official Kingdom business can be carried out, an event announcement MUST contain these SIX ITEMS:

- ◆ Dates of the event- day and month
- ◆ Event time: when site opens & closes to the populace
- ◆ Name of the sponsoring group or groups
- ◆ Location of the event. The name of the event site, and full address.
- ◆ Name, both SCA and Modern, of the Event Steward, including contact phone and email. (Needed if there an emergency / or issues arise)

- ◆ Details of Registration : Do NOT use “FEE” as a describer for registration cost.

Example of wording for Registration:

Adult Event Registration: $25 / Adult Member Discount Registration: $20 / Youth (6-17) $5 / Children 5 & Under: FREE

Event Copies: An Editable version of your flyer MUST be sent. If you wish to send a PDF, you are more than welcomed. However, I need a version I am able to edit, because sometimes that PDF just will not convert correctly and I would like to keep your flyers looking nice.

Deadline: The Chronicler must receive event copies no later than the 1st of the month TWO MONTHS PRIOR to your event. (e.g. if the event is in November, the flyer must be received by September 1st.) If there is an issue with meeting the deadline, please contact the Chronicler ASAP. There is no grace period the deadline is final and non-negotiable. The earlier a flyer is received the better!
