Barony of Arn Hold

Masked Ball
January 17, 2026
Emmett, ID

Visit our Facebook Event Page

Greetings Unto the Populace of Artemisia from Fedor and Belka, Baron and Baroness of Arn Hold,

It is our joy to invite all good gentles to join us for an evening of dancing and merriment as we celebrate the Solstice and honor the wondrous populace of Arn Hold. This gathering shall be held in the spirit of the 14th century, that all might revel in the splendor of Artemisia's history and grace. Come share in the festivities—there shall be music, laughter, and a splendid dessert buffet prepared by the talented denizens of our Barony.

The centerpiece of our revel will be a Grand Parade of Masks, where gentles may display their artistry and creativity. Her Majesty and Her Excellency will delight in choosing their favorites among the parade. In addition, the Gentle of Color shall be chosen by the voice of the populace, and a brief court will be held, should it please Their Majesties.

We look forward to celebrating with you beneath the Solstice skies!

In service and delight,

Fedor & Belka

Shire of Arrows' Flight

Mystery Event: A
Midwinter's Daydream
January 31st, 2026

Spanish Fork, UT

[Visit our Facebook Event
Page](#)

Strange things are happening in Arrow's Flight. The fairy courts are unsettled at the loss of something precious, and call for it to be returned. King Oberon is personally overseeing the investigation, and will not return to his realm until he's satisfied. What was lost? Who can help find it? Can you keep yourself safe from the influence of the Fair Folk as you search? Sift truth from rumors, and join us in a Midwinter Night's Dream to help us remain on good terms with our Good Neighbors. Along with a mystery to solve and intriguing characters to interact with, can you impress the Fae with your combat prowess in our tournaments of armored combatants and dueling fencers. And, as befits a fairy encounter, there will be food and dance, stories and music. Impress Queen Mebh with your performance at a winter/fairy themed bardic. Craft a mask or a delicate snowflake ornament. Dance, if you dare, with Robin Goodfellow.

Site opens: 9 AM Site closes: 8 PM

Location: Spanish Fork Fairgrounds Ponderosa Building 475 S Main St, Spanish Fork, UT 84660

Lupercalia
Feb 14, 2026
Preston, ID

Visit the FB Event Page

Let the word go forth across the Kingdom of Artemisia that the Shire of Stonegate calls you to gather for a day of wild revelry, romantic noble challenge, and lyrical contest!

In the frost of February, when the earth lies quiet beneath winter's cloak, we shall kindle the ancient fires of Lupercalia and awaken the stirring spirit of the festival.

Here, warriors and poets alike will take the field... Some armed with sword and shield, others with wit and verse, but all will partake in the sacred rituals of the heart. The tournaments of Lupercalia will test both valor and passion, where deeds of strength and words of beauty are weighed alike, and the fires of love and courage burn bright in the frost.

The list will echo with the clash of arms as gallant warriors vie for the favor of the populace, each striving to embody the virtues of loyalty, courtesy, and courage. The hall will also ring with the music of voices, in bardic challenge, songs of love... or lust, oaths of fealty, and tales of deeds both bold and tender.

Food will strengthen our bond, uniting hearts as it has through the ages. Our feast will celebrate love in all its forms...across time, culture, and passion. Bring forth your banners to declare your household, your honor, or your devotion. Wear or bestow favors to proclaim where your heart lies and to inspire those who champion your cause. Let the sight be one of brilliant colors against the winter sky... bold as the hearts that bear them, and wild as the spirit of Lupercalia.

December 31, 1844 did not happen in the Philippines. Turns out, the Philippines was one day behind Australia, Japan, Indonesia, and the rest of Asia. The easiest solution was to just 'leap forward' one day and line up. But how did they get behind in the first place?

When the Portuguese started colonizing southeast Asia in the 15th century, they rounded Africa, hopped through the Indian Ocean, then followed the coast all the way up through Macau and to the southern end of Japan. As they sailed forth, time inched forward while on the boat, but they stayed consistent thanks to the need on the sea for careful timekeeping for navigation.

Then there's the Philippines. Their first European contact was not the Portuguese, but the Spanish, more specifically Magellan, landing there in March 1521. He was going west and also kept careful track of the days. But the International Date Line hadn't been invented yet, so he brought the wrong day west with him instead of taking the right day going east. Once the IDL was set and the islands of the western Pacific were firmly ensconced in the eastern hemisphere, it was time to catch up.

The Marianas Islands had to do the same thing for the same reason. And now you know more Random Carp.
