No missive this month.

Their Royal Highnesses

Greetings!

Letters of Intent for Fall Crown Tournament are due on Saturday, September 14, 2024, by 11:59pm. They shall be emailed to TRH@northshield.org and seneschal@northshield.org. This letter should provide evidence of fulfillment of all requirements for entrance by the prospective combatant and consort and outline their involvement in diverse areas of the SCA.

We will be holding peerage meetings at Coronation.

One of our goals here in Northshield is to reinvigorate the armouring in the Kingdom. Early in his Highness's SCA career, the works of what are now Northshield armourers were an inspiration to start armouring. To this end, we will be sponsoring a Royal Armourer's competition at Nordskogen Twelfth Night. We are looking for works of armour from all time periods, in period materials such as steel, leather, bronze, etc., with documentation including the use in period.

Please get award recommendations in! You might notice a theme here. The landed Baronage is our eyes and ears in their baronies and regions. We request that they provide recommendations for awards more than eight weeks ahead of a Royal progress event in their barony or region. At eight weeks the Crowns need to finalize awards with the Signet to arrange award scrolls. Award scrolls are unlikely if the notice to Signet is less than eight weeks. Please, be courteous to the scribes! Please protect the Crowns from the Signet office.

Thora & Thorbrandr

Kingdom Seneschal

Dearest Northshield,

Fall is now truly upon us. Winter is coming, it is true. I hope your summer activities have been fulfilling and inspiring. I myself have had an incredible time watching and participating in our summer and fall events. Fall is a time to be thankful for the harvest of your spring and summer labors and I hope that you all have had a bountiful season. I've had the opportunity to visit with old friends and make entirely new ones at that events I have been able to get to. It is truly a wonder to be able to see all of the diversity and talent that Northshield has. You all inspire me.

Please do not be a stranger, feel free to reach out either via email or if you catch me at an event, come say hello.

Thank you Northshield, I am honored to serve you.

In grateful service,

Morgaine

Greetings, Northshield!

In Service to Northshield and The Dream,

Samson "Sami" Muskovich

Chancellor of the Exchequer

Greetings, Exchequers,

Things are still quiet with the Exchequer's office. I extended my warrant, as the original expired July 1 of this year. I am still looking for a replacement – letters of interest are due September 15.

In service,

Æsa

Kingdom Minister of Arts & Sciences

Greetings!

Did you know that literally any SCA event can have an A&S display? All it takes is a table or two and a little bit of advance planning. If your local group is hosting an event, try putting out a call for artisans to bring something to show off. Especially for events where people may be traveling from outside your immediate vicinity, it is a great opportunity to see what everyone is working on and make new connections. You can come up with a theme or simply ask folks to bring whatever nifty thing they've made and an index card with their name and a brief explanation of the item. The most important thing is to make an opportunity for people to share their passions; it doesn't have to be fancy or competitive. My inbox is always open at moas@northshield.org if you have questions about how to add an A&S display or showcase to your event.

Farolfus

Kingdom Chronicler

Greetings unto the populace of Northshield,

Local Chroniclers: A couple items for your attention:

1. Effective immediately, start sending copies of your newsletters to digitalarchivist@sca.org rather than archivist@sca.org

2. The Kingdom Chroniclers Handbook was last updated fourteen years ago. Please let me know if there are any changes (additions, deletions, clarifications, etc.) you would like to see made.

Nominations for the AS 58 William Blackfox Awards have been submitted. Thank you to everyone who contributes to your local and kingdom newsletters. This is the best part of being the kingdom chronicler. Speaking of which...

My term as Kingdom Chronicler has been extended to September 1, 2024. I would like to receive letters of intent by August 1, 2024, to provide time for Stallari to review the applicants, and provide training to my successor. The office is a required office for a kingdom. It is a largely administrative position, overseeing the specialized deputies who do much of the day-to-day work of their areas. The Kingdom Chronicler is also a voting member of the Stallari Council and Kingdom Finance Committee.

If anyone has any interest in serving in this office, or any of the many deputy positions, please let me know, I am always glad to talk about what is involved with the offices.

Ever in service to Crown, Kingdom, and you,

Arnbjørn

Northwatch Editor

Cén scéal? What's the news?

September is a busy month! Take a look at the many event ads in this issue. Our upcoming newsletter themes are as follows, but please submit art and articles about anything at all for the edification of the kingdom.

- August 20 – Maps & Cartography – How do we picture the world?
- September 20 – Lost & Found – What have you lost in the SCA? What have you found? Silly and serious answers welcome.
- October 20 – Book Recommendations – What's a text that has been particularly useful to you?

Please send all questions or submissions to northwatch@northshield.org.

Kingdom Earl Marshal

All,

As this current heat wave continues, several events have had to make decisions about whether or not to continue martial activities. However, when marshals have made the wise and safe decision to suspend activities, they were often met with significant resistance – from fighters but also occasionally from other SCA officers.

We were planning to include heat and cold guidelines in the marshal handbook updates, but due to the current challenges we would like to roll that out sooner.

Below is the proposed guidance. Please provide input ASAP – I'd like to get this out in the next week. This is basically the core of the Pennsic policy. (My thanks to Davin and William for helping bring this together.)

Let's be safe out there.

Armond

DRAFT – SCA Heat index policy

1. Heat index is the measure of the temperature that a person feels, which is different from the actual air temperature, as it factors in humidity as well as air temperature. It may also be called the apparent temperature.
2. When the heat index reaches 103 degrees Fahrenheit (39.4 degrees Celsius), outdoor martial activities must be canceled. At lower levels, participants should act with caution and in the interest of their health.
3. No discussion or notification to the Crowns is required by the marshals.
4. Only the Marshal-in-Charge can approve resumption of activities. As always, local marshals may cancel official activities based on their reading of the environment.

Helpful resources (note – this app is not supported in Lochac and Drachenwald. Looking for alternatives).

The OSHA-NIOSH Heat Safety Tool App provides:

- A visual indicator of the current heat index and associated risk levels specific to your current geographical location
- Precautionary recommendations specific to heat index-associated risk levels
- An interactive, hourly forecast of heat index values, risk levels, and recommendations for planning outdoor activities
- Location, temperature, and humidity controls, which you can edit to calculate for different conditions
- Signs and symptoms and first aid for heat-related illnesses

SCA CORPORATE ANNOUNCEMENTS WORDS FROM THE PRESIDENT – 4 JULY 2024

The world is at our fingertips, and we have access to a wealth of information. The absence of that information leads to speculation with varying degrees of accuracy. There is a demand and expectation for transparency in the SCA when things go wrong. As the newest person in a Corporate role, it might help the membership to give my perspective.

This is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. The SCA does not reveal everything people want to know for legal and safety reasons. To understand the SCA's policy on transparency about sanctions, it helps to understand how things currently work. Sanctions are official actions that affect someone's SCA participation. We have our governing documents, core values, kingdom laws, and handbooks. They guide Corporate and define the structure of the game we play. The rules apply to everyone without exception. Sometimes, people break the rules for whatever reason, and we must take action.

An issue that the Board of Directors (BoD) acts on requires careful consideration. All the supporting documentation is collected. The office of the Society Seneschal puts it together into an extensive report. They present it to the BoD. The public has a blurry snapshot of an issue to base their assumptions on. The Board has an entire photo album of varying quality to make their decision with. The last report I looked at was 40 pages, and then there were all the supporting documents as well. It takes time to gather and put together information. Really, you should thank the Society Seneschal if you ever see Mistress Elasait in the wild. The Board makes the decisions with advice from the Corporate Officers. If someone is sanctioned, they are always told why they were sanctioned.

Now to the main point: transparency. There are some things to consider when it comes to that.

Please allow me to use a metaphor about the BoD and Corporate Officers. One person in a group of seven is ordering a pizza. Someone may have a gluten allergy. Someone could be vegan. Someone else would rather have tacos.

Three other folks are there telling them about the different options. It would take a lot of convincing to get everyone to agree on the same pizza. The group orders pizza often. But, every six months, a person is replaced with someone else with a different diet.

The SCA needs the information we've gathered to be accurate. This is because the decisions affect many people. We must protect the confidentiality of anyone who comes forward with information. We take precautions to protect revealing information. This is for the safety of those people.

The primary reason the SCA does not comment on sanctions is to protect the organization. The Sanctions Procedures and Policies Manual outlines the current policy. It says not to comment on sanctions.

There is a balance between transparency and risk. Given what you now know about the process, I want to hear from the membership about where the SCA can improve its transparency. You can email me at president@sca.org. I would like to note that it takes time to change policy. Although I do not make the decisions in this area, I can present to the BoD what the membership wants to see.

COMMENTARY CALL – REMOVING 'COURTS OF CHIVALRY' REFERENCES IN CORPORA

The Board of Directors is seeking feedback on a proposed edit to Corpora to remove references to 'Courts of Chivalry'.

Explanation: In the early days of the SCA, "Courts of Chivalry" were used to deal with completely in-game behavioral issues such as failure to acknowledge blows on the tourney field, lack of what was seen as proper courteous behavior toward ladies, etc. Sometimes these "courts" were codified in kingdom laws, and sometimes they were not. Often there was confusion. However, over the decades the SCA has developed standardized policies with which to deal with these issues that do not include public courts conducted by the Crown, peerage bodies, or other entities. These policies have the benefit of providing consistency across the Society, regardless of Kingdom. While many kingdoms still have laws regarding such "courts", they are seldom or inconsistently used. Often the courts are not in compliance with Society policies on investigative procedures and sanctions, and can set up an expectation that the SCA will function akin to a law court, which is problematic as it is untrue. As a result of the creation of new policies to handle these problems, some kingdoms have chosen to eliminate all references to such courts from their laws. Unfortunately, Corpora still implies they are required (Corpora II.C.4.h, below).

To clarify the matter, the Board seeks commentary on a proposal to eliminate from Corpora all references to Kingdom Courts set up to deal with disciplinary issues. This would not necessarily prevent a kingdom from continuing "courts of courtesy" or other mechanisms that work for them as long as those mechanisms are in compliance with Society policies, but would remove the Corpora expectation that such "courts" are required.

Commentary is requested by September 25, 2024.

Glossary:

- ~~Court of Chivalry / Court of Inquiry: A panel, defined according to kingdom law, convened to investigate issues and possibly recommend action to the appropriate Society authority.~~

Corpora III.C.4: Branches - Branch Designations - Kingdom:

4. Kingdom: A kingdom is a sovereign entity within the Society which has the right to select a ruling King and Queen-Sovereign and Consort by armored combat. A branch or contiguous group of branches may petition for kingdom status if the resulting entity would fulfill the requirements listed below:

(Note: Changing "King and Queen" to "Sovereign and Consort" is an editing change to bring this language in line with other parts of Corpora. It is not relevant to the elimination of courts of chivalry.)

h. A body of kingdom law which provides for the maintenance and succession of the Crown; for the definition and advancement of local branches; for the appointment and removal of territorial Barons and Baronesses; ~~for the conduct of such courts as may be required for the maintenance of the realm;~~ and for such other matters as are found necessary. Draft laws, in the form to be presented to the victors of the first Crown Lists, must accompany a petition for kingdom status.

Corpora IV.G.9: Royalty - The Crown:

- ~~The Crown may establish and call such courts as may be necessary for the governance of the realm, in accordance with kingdom law and custom.~~
- ~~— Any courts within the Society are presumed to be within the historical~~ ~~context of the Society and pertain only to conduct within the structure and definitions of the Society.~~

- ~~— The primary purpose for these courts within the Society is for the investigation of questions and issues; for opening communications on issues; and for the clarification of issues. Only secondarily are courts considered to be for the purpose of trying members of the Society for alleged behavior or incidents. No courts of the latter type are to be established by any branch below kingdom level.~~
- ~~— No court shall be held within any kingdom on individual behavior that falls within the jurisdiction of a civil or criminal court maintained by the nation or other political division where it takes place, nor shall any recommendation about individuals be made on such issues. However, a given action may have implications both in law and in the Society's rules of courteous behavior. A court which restricts itself to the latter may be held as long as the act in question occurred in a Society context.~~
- ~~— If a court concludes that the appropriate action is one beyond the powers of the Crown or Kingdom to enact, the judgment should be issued in the form of a request to the Society Seneschal.~~

Corpora IV.H.6-8: Royalty - The Coronet:

- ~~The Coronet may call courts of inquiry only if the Crown approves.~~
7. Reservations to the Crown
- When the Crown believes the Coronet has overstepped the bounds of law and custom, the normal recourse should be to attempt in-kingdom mediation and then a Court of Chivalry, if needed and then referral to the Board, if needed.
- ~~If the Board upholds the judgment of such a Court, the affected parties may be subject to loss of any honors and privileges deriving from their reign, and nullification of any official acts dating back to the incident which led to the invocation of the Court.~~
 - ~~If the Crown feels that rapid action is essential to protect the Society, it has the option of banishing the Coronet from the realm-issuing an Exile from the Kingdom against the Coronet, effectively putting the principality reign into abeyance until either conditions change within the kingdom or the Board acts. countermands the order. However, if the Board does not agree with the Crown's~~ judgment regarding the urgency of the situation, the Board may choose to take action against the Crown as well as or instead of the Coronet.

8. Reservations to the Board

- The Board reserves to itself the final determination regarding discipline of members for actions taken while serving as Sovereign or Consort of a Principality. However, the Coronet remains subject to the Crown, and provisions regarding ~~Courts of Chivalry and banishment~~ Royal sanctions still apply.

Corpora X.B.4.b: Grievances and Sanctions - Sanctions - Reservations to the Board of Directors:

b. Sanctions upon Individuals for Actions taken as Coronet

The Board reserves to itself the final determination regarding discipline of members for actions taken while serving as Sovereign or Consort of a Principality. However, the Coronet remains subject to the Crown, and provisions regarding ~~Courts of Chivalry and Royal sanctions~~. If the Crown believes the Coronet has overstepped the bounds of law and custom, the normal recourse should be in-kingdom mediation and then referral to the Board. ~~a Court of Chivalry~~. If the Board upholds the judgment of such a Court, the affected parties may be subject to loss of any honors and privileges deriving from their reign, and nullification of any official acts dating back to the incident which led to the invocation of the Court. If the Crown feels that rapid action is essential to protect the SCA, it has the option of imposing an Exile from the Kingdom ~~Proscription from Active Participation~~ upon the Coronet from the realm, effectively putting the principality reign into abeyance until either condition change within the kingdom or the Board acts. ~~countermands the order~~. However, if the Board does not agree with the Crown's judgment regarding the urgency of the situation, the Board may choose to take action against the Crown as well as, or instead of, against the Coronet.

(Note that the above section contains outdated language regarding available royal sanctions; this has also been changed to current terminology.)

NEW RANGED MARTIAL PEERAGE – POTENTIAL NAME AND ARMORY FEEDBACK SESSIONS

On June 5, the Board of Directors approved a new peerage for ranged martial arts and directed Laurel Queen of Arms to start the process for devising and registering a name and armory for the order.

Devising a name and armory for a new peerage order is not an easy task. Since February 1970, we have registered close to 60,000 pieces of armory and around 5,000 order names, household names, and heraldic titles, and while it is still relatively easy to register new ones, the protection we offer to Society-wide peerage orders is broader than that accorded to the badges of individual people or the names of kingdom or lower-level orders. This makes it difficult to find a design that does not infringe on already-registered items.

To manage this task, Laurel set up a working group on June 9. Built around a nucleus of heralds who had been on the Board-appointed Peerage committee, the group has a significant overlap with the ranged martial arts communities and consists of senior heralds whose expertise includes dealing with conflicts and studying names of orders. Its work has proceeded as expected, and is now approaching a stage where it would be good to have further input from the communities involved, to make sure the suggestions have no hidden issues that haven't been considered.

There will be two meetings at the Pennsic War on August 8, at 9 am at the thrown weapons range and at 10:30 am at the archery range, where it will be possible to ask about the process and voice any concerns.

For those not able to attend these, there will be Zoom meetings on August 12, at 9 am and 8 pm Pacific Time (UTC-8). Anyone with

DEAR ABBESS:

It seems as though the summers have grown hotter than in years past and I often find myself too exhausted, sweaty, or ill-tempered when out and about. Nudity is frowned upon and I have no servants to fan me. What can I do to stay cool without violating law or custom?

—SWEATY IN SAINT-DENIS

DEAR SWEATY,

If we look to Bartholomew Anglicus in his 13th-century encyclopedia On the Properties of Things, he notes that because the sun is at its apex in summer, it shines directly down on our heads. As a result, many people have an excess of yellow bile, the humour associated with dryness and heat and, as a result, fits of anger. In order to avoid unnecessary unpleasantness, it is important to protect oneself from the sun's rays. Many illuminated manuscripts show peasants at work during the summer, and I think we can take many useful cues from them. For example, in the August page of Très riches heures du Duc de Berry, the people working in the fields are wearing broad-brimmed hats and they have discarded their outer layers. By protecting your head from the sun's rays, you can reduce your yellow bile, and by stripping to your braies and undershirt, you can increase ventilation without revealing too much skin (protecting your flesh from both the cruel sun and the eyes of your neighbors). This page also offers one more solution: several of the laborers are swimming in a stream. If a safe and clean water body is available, try to make use of it. You will be, at least briefly, somewhat less sweaty.

—ABBESS

Do you have a medieval problem or quandary? Send your message to northwatch@northshield.org and include "Dear Abbess" in the subject line to get some expert advice.
