Words from the Crown

Greetings to the Ever Radiant People of Atenveldt,

As the long Aten summer nears its end, so does our time as Crown. While We write these words well in advance, We are well pleased that September has brought Us Heirs to the Aten throne. We look forward to working with Our Heirs as they ready themselves for their reign and prepare our mighty kingdom for War of the Phoenix III! In October We will follow the setting sun to Great Western War and enjoy the hospitality and friendship of the West. We will then travel to our northern lands for Kingdom Collegium, where We will partake of the true wealth of our kingdom: the knowledge of our populace.

We hope to see you all at these events, as the twilight of our reign begins and the dawn breaks for our Heirs.

Always in joyful service,
Baldric and Hürrem

Removing 'Courts of Chivalry' References in Corpora--Commentary Request

The Board of Directors is seeking feedback on a proposed edit to Corpora to remove references to 'Courts of Chivalry'.

Explanation: In the early days of the SCA, "Courts of Chivalry" were used to deal with completely in-game behavioral issues such as failure to acknowledge blows on the tourney field, lack of what was seen as proper courteous behavior toward ladies, etc. Sometimes these "courts" were codified in kingdom laws, and sometimes they were not. Often there was confusion. However, over the decades the SCA has developed standardized policies with which to deal with these issues that do not include public courts conducted by the Crown, peerage bodies, or other entities. These policies have the benefit of providing consistency across the Society, regardless of Kingdom. While many kingdoms still have laws regarding such "courts", they are seldom or inconsistently used. Often the courts are not in compliance with Society policies on investigative procedures and sanctions, and can set up an expectation that the SCA will function akin to a law court, which is problematic as it is untrue. As a result of the creation of new policies to handle these problems, some kingdoms have chosen to eliminate all references to such courts from their laws. Unfortunately, Corpora still implies they are required (Corpora III.C.4.h, below).

To clarify the matter, the Board seeks commentary on a proposal to eliminate from Corpora all references to Kingdom Courts set up to deal with disciplinary issues. This would not necessarily prevent a kingdom from continuing "courts of courtesy" or other mechanisms that work for them as long as those mechanisms are in compliance with Society policies, but would remove the Corpora expectation that such "courts" are required.

Corpora III.C.4: Branches-Branch Designations-Kingdom:

4. Kingdom: A kingdom is a sovereign entity within the Society which has the right to select a ruling ~~King and Queen~~ Sovereign and Consort by armored combat. A branch or contiguous group of branches may petition for kingdom status if the resulting entity would fulfill the requirements listed below:

- h. A body of kingdom law which provides for the maintenance and succession of the Crown; for the definition and advancement of local branches; for the appointment and removal of territorial Barons and Baronesses; ~~for the conduct of such courts as may be required for the maintenance of the realm;~~ and for such other matters as are found necessary. Draft laws, in the form to be presented to the victors of the first Crown Lists, must accompany a petition for kingdom status.

Corpora IV.G.9: Royalty-The Crown:

The Crown may establish and call such courts as may be necessary for the governance of the realm, in accordance with kingdom law and custom.

- Any courts within the Society are presumed to be within the historical context of the Society and pertain only to conduct within the structure and definitions of the Society.
- The primary purpose for these courts within the Society is for the investigation of questions and issues, for opening communications on issues, and for the clarification of issues. Only secondarily are courts considered to be for the purpose of trying members of the Society for alleged behavior or incidents. No courts of the latter type are to be established by any branch below kingdom level.
- No court shall be held within any kingdom on individual behavior that falls within the jurisdiction of a civil or criminal court maintained by the nation or other political division where it takes place, nor shall any recommendation about individuals be made on such issues. However, a given action may have implications both in law and in the Society's rules of courteous behavior. A court which restricts itself to the latter may be held as long as the act in question occurred in a Society context.
- If a court concludes that the appropriate action is one beyond the powers of the Crown or Kingdom to enact, the judgment should be issued in the form of a request to the Society Seneschal.

Corpora IV.H.6-8: Royalty-The Coronet:

The Coronet may call courts of inquiry only if the Crown approves:

7. Reservations to the Crown:

When the Crown believes the Coronet has overstepped the bounds of law and custom, the normal recourse should be to attempt in-kingdom mediation ~~and then a Court of Chivalry, if needed~~ and then referral to the Board, if needed.

- If the Board upholds the judgment of such a Court, the affected parties may be subject to loss of any honors and privileges deriving from their reign, and nullification of any official acts dating back to the incident which led to the invocation of the Court.
- If the Crown feels that rapid action is essential to protect the Society, it has the option of ~~banishing the Coronet from the realm~~ issuing an Exile from the Kingdom against the Coronet, effectively putting the principality reign into abeyance until either conditions change within the kingdom or the Board acts. ~~countermands the order.~~ However, if the Board does not agree with the Crown's judgment regarding the urgency of the situation, the Board may choose to take action against the Crown as well as or instead of the Coronet.

8. Reservations to the Board

- The Board reserves to itself the final determination regarding discipline of members for actions taken while serving as Sovereign or Consort of a Principality. However, the Coronet remains subject to the Crown, and provisions ~~regarding Courts of Chivalry and banishment~~ Royal sanctions still apply.

Corpora X.B.4.b: Grievances and Sanctions-Sanctions-Reservations to the Board of Directors:

b. Sanctions upon Individuals for Actions taken as Coronet

- The Board reserves to itself the final determination regarding discipline of members for actions taken while serving as Sovereign or Consort of a Principality. However, the Coronet remains subject to the Crown, and provisions regarding ~~Courts of Chivalry and~~ Royal sanctions. If the Crown believes the Coronet has overstepped the bounds of law and custom, the normal recourse should be in-kingdom mediation and then referral to the Board. ~~a Court of Chivalry. If the Board upholds the judgment of such a Court, the affected parties may be subject to loss of any honors and privileges deriving from their reign, and nullification of any official acts dating back to the incident which led to the invocation of the Court.~~ If the Crown feels that rapid action is essential to protect the SCA, it has the option of imposing an Exile from the Kingdom ~~Proscription from Active Participation~~ upon the Coronet ~~from the realm,~~ effectively putting the principality reign into abeyance until either condition change within the kingdom or the Board acts. ~~countermands the order.~~ However, if the Board does not agree with the Crown's judgment regarding the urgency of the situation, the Board may choose to take action against the Crown as well as, or instead of, against the Coronet.

We have heard the call for more arts, more science, and more time to do both. This October we will answer the call with a brand new format for A&S Collegium. Up in the beautiful north of Arizona at Chauncey Ranch we will have a 2 and half day collegium. The location will provide us the space and time to have longer classes and classes that most indoor facilities will not allow. There will be hot stuff, cold stuff and things of many colors.

The planned tracks will include cooking, but not just cooking, those who take the classes will have the opportunity to show off what they learn that day by providing a feast. You love music we would like you to not only learn a song, a dance or to drum but to share that in the evening as we dine and celebrate. Metal has always fascinated you then come learn to shape that metal to your desires. These are just a few of the activities we want to share.
