THE OFFICIAL NEWSLETTER OF THE KINGDOM OF GLEANN ABHANN

NOVEMBER, 2024 A.S. LIX (59) VOLUME 20, ISSUE NO. 11

We vow to defend and support you and yours, with word, deed and force.

From Their Majesties

Greetings unto the people of the River Valley Realm,

It was a magical whirlwind of a weekend, if a bit warm.

While Our predecessors caught the ever fatal, disco fever, We are so thankful for their service to the Ram throne and their royal guidance.

Having ascended the Aries throne We are now on the lookout for any dragons that may come Our way, even if they be sweet.

As the good fairy foretold, Heirs! We look forward to meeting Our Heirs on November 9th, at Our Crown List. Letters of Intent will be accepted until two weeks prior to the event.

We have heard rumors of raids in the north and plan to journey to the lands of the Grey Bear to investigate. We ask any and all warriors to join us for melees and fun at Diamond Wars, October 18th and 19th.

And to keep our eastern borders secure, We plan to follow the sounds of the sea and the promise of coastal battles to Meridies, at the Barony of the Osprey's Gatalop 40 anniversary celebration!

In closing, We lift Our faces to the promise of autumn on the wind, as We hear the rhythmic sound of drums to the west, coming out of Ansteorra. . . bam bam bam

In Service to the Dream,

Griffin Belisencia
King Queen

FROM THE CHRONICLER

Greetings unto the Populace of our fair Kingdom,

Now that Kingdom Arts & Sciences has come and gone, it is time to prepare for the abundant number of events we have scheduled for this fall. We should also begin to prepare for the WARS... War of the Rams and Gulf Wars. Gulf Wars is 6 months away, yes I said it, six months.

Recently a band of Gleann Abhann populace members made a trek north to the lands of Calontir, to a small southwest town in Missouri. Our only purpose for our travels was to see a man about a knighting as one often does. A gentle southern man with a bit of a Virginian cadence to his voice. A genuine man who stands tall and thinks before he speaks and who always has the right thing to say. Is it an act, I am sure we will never know.

Our friend Grimmbrand Hundeman of the Grimfells was elevated to the Order of Chivalry at March Warden in the Kingdom of Calontir on September 28th with 16 members of his Ram Fan Club in attendance.

THERE'LL BE SCARY GHOST STORIES AND TALES OF THE GLORIES...

By the time this reaches folks, we'll be approaching the end of October; moving into November; entering the long dark nights of wintering. There are never enough of those for me... but I understand some may be dreading it... I can only say embrace the hot cocoa weather.

All that time to cozy up inside. Time to plan and perhaps begin new projects. And for navel gazing and crafting stories. It's how ghost stories became such a companion to Christmastime. Those long dark nights have always been ripe for them. And humans perhaps just genuinely love them. From Homer (Odyssey) to Pliny (with a ghost bound in chains!) to Shakespeare (A Winter's Tale* to choose just one), the decades of focus we SCAers study are riddled with scary stories to tell in the dark. Seneca wrote of ghosts; ghouls and corpses populated One Thousand and One Nights; and if you've never read early Japanese ghost stories, I recommend them... but with the lights on. A couple of other laurel friends and I that love the spooky season often talk about dream projects – ones we'd love to tackle ourselves or encourage others to try – like vampire hunting kits (no, really) or protection spells for loved ones or any number of legends that could be deftly set into the bardic arts. We particularly love how the distant past and its people are not unrecognizable. We can see ourselves in them, even if only a little. When Guinevere's mother's ghost (in The Awntyrs off Arthure) emerges from a swamp, beset by toads and mired with mud and pain, and accompanied by howling storms, one does not miss the point despite the language being quite different than the way we now describe our own hauntings. The story of St. Edmund, who lost and subsequently harassed until reunited with, his head, surely makes one think of Ichabod Crane. And who has not had their heart broken at least once that made us wish to wander the halls of a long-abandoned castle a-moaning our sorrow and frightening the locals...

The lines can be so easily drawn from our ancestors to ourselves. And that has made me think about my favorite project from our most recent KA&S. Elizabeth Alexandra Donnan (of Grey Niche) put forth a beautiful display, and a tasty one, of beef dishes with a guided trail that led from her own grandmother all the way back to the ancients. Each dish akin to the next in a very carefully guided trek back in time, showing how we are different, but more so and ever so similar. How we are nourished by many things that have remained the same from the Romans to now. I encourage you, if you are intrigued, to seek her out to talk about her lovely project. It's full of excellent rabbit holes to follow, especially for us foodies. And she knows her stuff.

Her brilliant idea of that guided trail has got my creative brain buzzing, thinking of all those threads that could be followed. And it very quickly led me to my friends' and my love of ghostly things. And spooky season. And the long dark winter ahead. I hope that it might inspire you, too... firing up new connections, clever new projects, and satisfying new research. And if you do decide to tackle that vampire hunting kit... let us know so we can eagerly follow along. Of course, one ever present trope in ghost stories is their return being forced by unfinished business (cough – projects – cough) ... and who, if not we artisans, could understand that better. **ahem**

Yours sincerely, in anticipation of great things to emerge from our wintering...

I THIS DAY PLEDGE FEALTY TO THE CROWN OF GLEANN ABHANN. AND VOW TO PROVIDE MY ARMS IN TIMES OF WAR, MY ART IN TIMES OF PEACE, AND MY
SERVICE IN TIMES OF NEED. I PROMISE TO DEFEND OUR FAIR KINGDOM AGAINST
ALL THAT DESIRE HER
HARM WITH WORD,
DEED AND FORCE.
FROM THIS DAY
FORWARD, AS LONG AS
MY CROWN ALLOWS, I AM
BOUND TO BE FAITHFUL,
HOLDING HONOR AND
COURTESY ABOVE ALL.
